

Introduction

Welcome to Flintshire, one of the UK's most important, but not best known locations.

Located in beautiful North Wales and close to the historic city of Chester, Flintshire is part of a large dynamic economic sub-region, with a population of 1 million. This is a major commercial location, particularly for manufacturing, with 34% of all jobs (9% for the UK), much of it advanced manufacturing.

This is a major centre for the aerospace sector, with all of the wings for the 10,000 Airbus family of aircraft that have been produced since the 1970's being constructed here, including those for the A380, the largest airliner currently in service. Other companies include Toyota, now building their new hybrid engine here, UPM Kymenne, Convatec, Kingspan, Warwick International, Unilever, moneysupermarket.com, SCA Paper, Kimberley Clarke.

But Flintshire is not just manufacturing. Much of the county is rural, with lovely villages and market towns, and to the west, the Clwydian Range, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. At Clwyd Theatr Cymru, the most successful production theatre in Wales, regularly taking performances to the West End and Broadway. At Port of Mostyn, we have the fastest developing wind farm support base in the UK.

Flintshire is a growing area, between 2001-2008 employment grew by 23% and the numbers of businesses grew by 18%. We want to see more businesses set up and prosper here, Flintshire is 'Open for Business'.
